

04 EDITORIAL
PHOTO SCENE

Tim Hetherington Grant for Fernando Molerés; photography festival Circulation(s) at the Parc de Bagatelle in Paris

06 BOOKS

New photo books by Andreas Gursky, Christer Strömholm, Kirill Golovchenko and Rena Effendi

08 TALKING WITH

Azu Nwagbogu, founder and director of Lagos-Photo Festival, strives to change the Western view of Africa

84 EXHIBITIONS

A première for Austria: photography museum WestLicht presents a retrospective of Roger Ballen

88 READERS GALLERY

Thunder spirits and towering clouds: LFI readers capture the storm

90 MY PICTURE

German photographer Jessica Backhaus describes her first photo shoot with her actress mother

IMPRINT

Cover photo: from the Kyrgyzstan portfolio by Jean Gaumy (page 12)

Andy Spyra: the joyful celebration of a christening is an increasingly rare occasion in the Christian communities of Palestine (page 26)

12 | Heirs of Manas

A foreign world on the periphery of Western awareness: Magnum photographer Jean Gaumy explores Kyrgyzstan with the Leica M.

26 | Christ Seeks a Home

Many members of Palestine's ancient Christian communities are emigrating – Andy Spyra and Christian H. Meier report.

38 | Project

A cheerful interplay of colour and form, back and foreground: Werner Mansholt spends a week in Tiflis with his M9.

42 | Scenes on Set

Coincidence led Brigitte Lacombe to a career as a set-photographer – director Martin Scorsese never shoots a film without her.

68 | Down on the Farm

What could lead a young couple to trade their apartment in the city for life on a farm? A long term photography project by Marcus Reichmann.

80 | Classics

Stefan Kruckenhauser: the small-format pioneer and developer of modern skiing techniques has changed our understanding of alpine landscape photography.

LEICA WORLD

52 LEICA M: THE FIRST PRACTICAL TEST

Two LFI editors have put Leica's new flagship camera to the test, and were extremely pleased with the results, both in terms of functionality as well as image quality

63 WHO NEEDS GPS?

Once considered a mere gimmick for consumer cameras, now a popular professional tool: GPS components

66 NEWS

A professional range of photo printing papers by German manufacturer Sihl, and a mobile flash reflector system by Sunbounce

The new Leica M put to the test: living up to our highest expectations