LFI – LEICA FOTOGRAFIE INTERNATIONAL

With their precise technology, Leica cameras have shaped the world of photography since 1925 when the Leica I was introduced. Many pictures that became defining symbols of an age were taken with a Leica.

LFI presents portfolios and reportages by renowned Leica photographers eight times a year – from classics in their fields and masters of contemporary photography all the way to young talent and the best photographers from the LFI Gallery.

In addition, the magazine offers in-depth test results of Leica cameras, lenses and accessories, informs about exhibitions and festivals that are worth visiting, and the latest photo books that are worth perusing.

1. An advertising order in the sense of these General Terms and Conditions of Business, is a contract in respect of the publication of one or more advertisements, supplements or inserts of an advertiser.
2. Advertising orders shall be completed within one year after conclusion of contract. Joint (linked) advertisements, supplements and inserts for different clients shall be invoiced according to the basic price.
3. Rebates and discounts, as listed in the price list for advertisements are valid within a year from the publication of the first advertisement only.
4. Upon conclusion of a sales contract, the client shall have the right, within the time frame agreed, to call for more advertisements than the quantity stated in the order.
5. If a contract is not fulfilled due to circumstances beyond the control of the publisher and for which the publisher is not responsible, the client shall reimburse the publisher with the difference between the rebate granted and the actual delivery, notwithstanding possible further legal obligations. Reimbursement shall be waived if the contract could not be fulfilled by the publisher due to force majeure.
6. When calculating the ordering quantities, text millimetre lines shall be converted to advertisement millimetres according to the price.
7. If prices for advertisements change, the new conditions shall apply immediately, if not otherwise agreed between the client and publisher.
8. The publisher undertakes no guarantee for the acceptance of advertisements, inserts or supplements at predetermined positions in the magazine, unless the client has made this a stipulation for granting of the order.
9. If an advertisement is published in the text section, the text price shall be paid. Text section advertisements are advertisements with at least three sides of the advertisement bordering on text, and not bordering other advertisements.
10. Advertisements that are not recognisable as such by reason of their design, shall be clearly designated with the word "Advertisement" by the publisher.
11. The publisher undertakes to apply all due diligence and care as befits a prudent business-man with regard to the acceptance and proofreading of advertisement texts and images, accepts, however, no liability.

The client alone shall be liable for the legal clearance of the advertisement, the supplement or insert. Should the publisher, due to infringement of the rights of third parties, whatsoever the reason, be held liable, the client shall be obliged to indemnify the publisher. This also includes legal defence fees.

12. The publisher reserves the right to refuse acceptance of advertising orders – also individual calls within the framework of a contract – by reason of the content, source of origin or the technical form in accordance with the uniform, factually justified principles of the publishers, if the content is in violation of official rules and regulations, or if publication is unacceptable to the publisher.
13. Orders for supplements and inserts shall be binding for the publisher only after presentation of an advertising medium sample. The publisher accepts no supplements or inserts that by reason of format or design give the reader the impression, that they are part of the magazine. Supplements and inserts containing third-party advertisements shall not be accepted.
14. Test prints shall only be delivered upon express request. The client is alone responsible for the accuracy of the test prints returned to the publisher. If the test prints are not returned to the publisher within the agreed time limit, release to print shall be taken as granted.
15. The client is responsible for the timely delivery of the text of the advertisement as well as faultless printing material or supplements/inserts. For clearly unsuitable or damaged printing material the publisher requires immediate replacement. In the case of advertisements placed by telephone, or modifications initiated by telephone, as well as in the case of errors due to illegibility, the publisher shall accept no liability for the correct reproduction. If the publisher is unable to immediately recognise possible faults in the material, which only become obvious during printing, the client shall have no right to claim in the case of erroneous or insufficient reprint or copy. This also applies in the case of defective repeat advertisements, if the client does not point out the error in time before printing of the next advertisement.
16. The publisher guarantees the faultless reproduction of the advertisement with regard to printing. The client has in the case of wholly or partly illegible, incorrect or incomplete copying of the advertisement the right of subsequent fulfilment, but only in as far as the purpose of the advertisement was influenced. Further liability of the publisher is excluded. Claims must be – except in the case of faults that are not obvious – be put forward within four weeks after receipt of the invoice and supporting counterfoils.

17. Invoices are payable within 14 days after date of the invoice, net. The publisher has the right to charge interest on arrears if the payment deadline is exceeded. In the case of default of payment, the publisher is able to defer further fulfilment of the current order until payment has been executed and is also able to demand prepayment for the remaining advertisements.
18. Upon request the publisher shall supply an advertising counterfoil with the invoice. Depending on the type and scope of the order, advertisement cuttings, pages or complete voucher numbers shall be delivered.
19. Costs incurred for the preparation of ordered printing material, as well as for modifications requested by the client, or for which the client is responsible, shall be paid by the client.
20. A decrease in circulation shall only affect the terms of the contract if the circulation decreases by more than 20%. Over and above this warranty, claims for reduction are excluded if the publisher has informed the client with regard to the sinking circulation in such a timely manner that the client would have been able to withdraw from the contract before publication of the advertisement.
21. In the case of keyed or box-number advertisements, the publisher ensures that the due diligence of a prudent businessman with regard to the safekeeping of and the passing on of offers in good time shall be taken. The publisher reserves the right to open and check incoming offers in order to prevent the abuse of the number service. The publisher is not obliged to pass on offers pushing business sales or certain articles and agency offers.
22. Print material shall only be returned by publishers to the client upon special request. The obligation for storage ends two months after publication of the advertisement, if not otherwise agreed.
